

Maya Byskov b. 1985 is an independent researcher and writer. She is currently the artistic director of the The Independent AIR, a residency programme with a focus on the Anthropocene. She holds an MSc in Development Economics from Copenhagen Business School and has previously worked as a curator, writer and gallery director. Her interests lie at the intersection of aesthetics and economic theory.